

Create an Adventure!

You will need:

- Minifigures (if you have completed 'Character Building', use your own characters)
- A pile of bricks and pieces
- Your setting if you have completed 'Set Building'

How to play:

- If you have already made your setting by completing 'Set Building' Activity, you can use it now. If not, you can start by creating a model of a building or setting that you like - a planet, an island or a jungle are some ideas.
- Take your minifigures and think about what adventure might happen in your setting. Think about:
 1. How they might meet.
 2. What they might say to each other (you could create some speech bubbles for them).
 3. What they might do - what happens in their adventure?

4. Can you use different words and sounds to make the adventure more exciting?
 5. Add more characters to your adventure - how do they change the story?
 6. Think about the ending - how will your characters finish their adventure?
- Go through your adventure a few times, try making the events more exciting and the conversations between your characters more dramatic.
 - Think about how you can record your adventure.
 - If you have access to Stop Motion software, you could turn it into an animation.
 - You could take photos. Make them into a comic strip and add captions and speech bubbles.
 - You could draw out your setting and characters on paper and write out your adventure underneath.
 - Present your adventure to friends and family
