

Pass the Model

You will need:

- A pile of bricks for each player

How to play:

- All players will be building a model together.
- Each player has 20 bricks.
- Player 1 starts by putting two of their bricks together.
- Player 1 then passes the model to the player on their left.
- Player 2 adds two more bricks and passes the model on to the next player.
- Each person decides on where their own bricks are placed.
- Keep passing the model until all of the bricks are used up.
- Were you able to compromise your own ideas to let all of your team make their own decisions?
- Did you complete the model as an effective team?
